What's Hot in Tubs

1. Designed by G + Design Studio, Tephi from GRAFF represents a modern, daring taste. Geometric lines recalling monolithic forms characterize both the sink and the bathtub, available in a matte finish.

2. STONE FOREST introduces the Calma Bathtub, which is carved from single blocks of limestone or marble. The design has a gentle, interior oval shape and holds the warmth of water longer than porcelain.

3. At 71 inches long, the Maurice Double Slipper Bathtub from BARCLAY PRODUCTS has a subtle lift at each end for an elegant effect. The cast-iron model also features claw feet crafted for a minimalist look.

4. Designed by Canadian furniture designer Joël Dupras and the WETSTYLE Design Lab, the Tulip Collection celebrates spring with a tub designed with two distinct angles at each end. The bathtub is offered in high gloss, matte and the company's new dual finish.

5. The #4100 Marco Bathtub by CHEVIOT PRODUCTS offers a modern take on the company's traditional cast-iron model. Made of composite resin and hand polished, the solid surface tub is inherently harder and stronger than acrylic and impervious to creaking and flexing.
