

SPLISH SPLASH

THREE TOP BATH COMPANIES UNVEIL THEIR LATEST CREATIONS.

BY ALEXA ROZZI

Details inspired by nature enter the bath space: Oceans, flower petals and sapphires are transformed into design elements through the Ametis shower head by GRAFF, Pétal de Cristal collection by THG and the Sapphire Square Sink by LAUFEN. These three products were all showcased at ISH, the world's leading trade fair for the bathroom experience held in Frankfurt, Germany in March, introducing an undeniably refreshing touch of nature to the design space.

GRAFF

Catch a glimpse into the future of luxury with the Ametis shower column by GRAFF. Revolutionary in both design and performance, the Ametis showerhead combines careful engineering with leading technology to transform and inspire the bath space.

Designer Davide Oppizzi uses RGB LED lighting to create a futuristic feel, balanced by elegant curves and fluid shapes that exude the essence of nature. At 63 inches tall, the indirect lighting within the overhead ring provides a soft glow below, equipped with four color options: white, red, green and blue. Body sprays are placed along the column to engage all the senses, turning the bathing experience into a tranquil escape.

Standing beneath the Ametis showerhead, you'll find yourself in the space between the universe above and ocean below, as Oppizzi intended to capture the fusion of these two elements through his ultra-modern design. The Ametis showerhead is available in white and black finishes, with pricing starting at $15,000.

LAUFEN

Delicate shapes and utilitarian function come together with the Sapphire Square Sink by LAUFEN.

The defined edges and clean lines of this contemporary design are made possible by LAUFEN's SapphireKeramik, a material with unprecedented flexural strength and durability. The Sapphire Sink marks the first time this material has been used, brought to the market after years of research and development.

Inspired by natural minerals, SapphireKeramik revolutionizes design capabilities, while providing countless functional benefits. Not only is the material second only to diamonds in hardness, but also it can handle abrasive cleaners and mechanical abrasion to ensure the surface remains sanitary. Its hardness permits thinner walls and a simplified structure, creating an architectural design that adds a modern touch to the bath space.

The Sapphire Sink is available in square and rectangle, with prices ranging from $495 to $895.

