What's Hot

9. The Nice Collection of colorful bathroom sink handles was designed by Matteo Thun & Antonio Rodriguez for FANTINI. A 4mm strip of color at the bottom is reflected throughout the glass, creating an illusion of a fully-colored handle. When looking at them from different heights, the handles show different amounts of color, and the collection is available in red, black, blue, turquoise, green and white.

10. From GRAFF's G+ Design Studio, the Harley Collection was inspired by classic motorcycles and an industrial aesthetic. The collection includes one-, two-, or three-hole versions of the sink and bathtub; wall-, floor- or deck-mounted models; and a linear lever option – also knurled for a user-friendly handle, as well as a two-hole lavatory faucet ideal for narrow spaces.

11. RUVATI introduces the Verona Series, a collection of apron-front workstation sinks. The sinks' large proportions accommodate oversized pots and pans, while integrated racks allow built-in accessories to slide quickly into place. Features include a deep, stainless-steel colander; an adjustable roll-up rack for drying dishes; and a stainless-steel rinse grid and drainer basket.

12. Created as a collaboration between designer Thomas O'Brien and WATERWORKS, the new Foro Bath Collection was inspired by classical elements like an antique Danish serving bowl and the Roman Forum. The design of the faucets features tailored, rounded bases, slightly tapered spouts and elevated levers and cross handles.

13. The new Rhapsody Sink from NATIVE TRAILS is an artistic twist on the traditional farmhouse style. Using techniques passed down through generations, a typical copper sink takes several days to perfect, resulting in hand-hammered detailing and a bowed apron front. The sink is offered in both brushed nickel and antique copper (shown here).

The sinks feature the look of real marble with non-porous properties and the ability to limit bacteria growth, while also eliminating the difficulties of maintaining real marble.
