Faber Launches Ro Water Purifier

Faber has recently launched a RO water purifier designed by Faber, Italy. Made in India, Faber uses "Filmtec" membranes across the range. These membranes are 100% made in USA and are untouched by human hands during the manufacturing process. This helps the water purifier to perform in the TDS limit of 3000 ppm.

The range of RO water purifiers offers assurance of 100% RO water & 100% UV water.

All the water purifier offer "Gemblock" technology which protects the purified stored water from microbial contamination. User can avail water whenever they need with 9Ltrs Storage capacity.

Häfele's Cooker Hood Receive Quiet Mark Award

After obtaining the certification for the Silent range of hoods, equipped with the NRS® (Noise Reduction System) technology, Häfele's iconic cooker hoods from Falmecc strengthens its partnership with Quiet Mark, promoting through its brand the extreme silence of its products.

Quiet Mark actively works to encourage brands to offer products with quiet acoustics and noise reductions solutions that positively impact our aural environment. The cooker hoods from Falmecc's NRS® Collection uses innovative technology that has been developed in collaboration with laboratories who are specialists in the study of fluid dynamics. The NRS® extractors ensure that the kitchen can remain a place to eat, cook and socialize without being interrupted by a noisy extractor system.

Viega's Advantix Vario Wall Drain

The Viega Advantix Vario Wall Drain impresses with its unbelievable flexibility and extremely narrow construction. Without any major effort, the Viega Advantix Vario wall drains can be cut to length with millimetre precision and can even be extended if needed. This is especially valuable for renovations where precise integration with existing buildings can be crucial.

This degree of flexibility gives bathroom designers maximum room for manoeuvre when planning showering areas.
